CALIFORNIA.

The California Election.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 4—No returns have been received from any ward in the city except the Eighth precinct and the Eleventh, where 75 votes were cast. The Democratic majority is from 10 to 20. Very few precincts will be heard from to-day.

The contest for Chief of Police between Crowley and Cockrill is very close. The election is claimed by the friends of the latter.

The Peoples' anti Monopoly ticket is undoubtedly successful, with few exceptions. The fight against the Railroad ticket was tremendous.

Late in the day yesterday Billy Carr sent out an edict to his cohorts to abandon the Republican ticket and go for the Democratic. It did him no good however for the Peoples' ticket will be elected by a large majority over both.

The contest for the Municipal officers is much closer, and there scratched ballots are the rule. The count in all the wards is extremely slow.

At two o'clock this morning the friends of Chief Crowley admitted their defeat, but as the count progressed their chances improved. The Crescents have polled a large vote against him. The colored voters in the Fourth Ward gave nearly their whole strength for Cockrill, but against the Railroad ticket generally.

Nothing like a correct table of the returns can be furnished before to-morrow and it is doubtful if many of the clerks can complete their labors before Sunday morning.

McDonald for Mayor, so far runs ahead of his ticket. So does Frank for Recorder. Murphy for District Attorney, is badly scratched, but has chances to win.

Last night when John Gallagher who was shot by J S Jaynes, was dying, Supervisor J Kenny stood over the body and raising his hand, swore to Heaven that he would kill the man who killed Gallagher. Afterwards in the city prison a fellow named Riley attempted to assassinate Jaynes but was prevented by the officer on duty in the prison.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 4—So far as the county is given, Crowley is still about 1,000 behind Cockrill for Chief of Police. D J Murphy, Taxpayers candidate District Attorney gives up the fight. He owes his defeat to Nathan Porter, candidate of the Crescents, who beats Ryan (Democrat) in every Republican ward. His friends claim that he will have a majority of about 2,000. In the Third Ward there is 225 majority for the Taxpayers.

None of the other wards will complete their returns before noon to-morrow. Crowley's friends admit that there is a strong probability of his defeat. The officers of election work slowly under great fatigue.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 4—The Independent Daily Defender will be issued as a morning paper in about two weeks.

No complete returns yet from any ward. On a count of 11,000 ballots Cockrill is 1,500 ahead of Crowley for Chief of Police. [illegible] for Mayor, is ahead and some calculate that he has a majority.

George Fluxbald has been arrested for the forgery of orders amounting to $200 on Chas. Hare.

In the Coroner's inquest in the case of John Gallagher who was shot by J S Jaynes the testimony did not vary from the facts heretofore published. It showed that Jaynes was first attacked by Supervisor Kenney and then by deceased.

Candidates on whom the vote is close have set vigilant watches to prevent any possible fraud by the officers of election.

Interior California.

Pensively observing the fashionable young ladies in hotel companies at the seaside a correspondent g[illegible] Watch the grouping of these girls, apparently accidental as it is, and see how artistically they manage with never a mistake. They know very well what they are about and [illegible] that [illegible] effect you are admiring. [illegible] sudden coolness seems to have sprung up between them [illegible] speaking to one another at all [illegible] one refusing to dance in the same set with the other. ## THE OTHER SIDE OF THE SCHOOL BOOK QUESTION

SALEM Sept 4, 1873

[illegible] I [illegible] in your paper of the [illegible] communication over the [illegible] containing [illegible] strictures upon the action of the [illegible] and of myself in particular with reference to the adoption of text books for use in the common schools of Oregon. There are several errors [illegible] in the article which I respectfully ask you to correct through your columns as I am quite sure that you do not desire to do me any injustice. Indeed although the tone of your correspondent's letter is quite fair as that of an anonymous communication is ever [illegible] of it so far as it relates to this matter is entirely devoid of truth.

In the first place it is not true that I am authorized to select the books for use in the public schools or that I have done so. That matter is decided by the County Superintendents under the general supervision of the Board of Education to lead in case of a tie by my casting vote. All but three of the selections that have thus far been made have been made entirely by the County Superintendents and except in those three instances I have had no occasion to use my casting vote.

The charge that the time for introducing the books that have been adopted has been extended to March 1st, 1874 to favor the Pacific Coast Series of Readers is also without foundation. That extension of time was granted solely with a view to the public good. As announced in a circular issued a few days ago to the County Superintendents it was found that as the law did not go into effect until 90 days after the end of the session at which it was passed and as there were some other unavoidable delays the selection of books was made at so late a day that it was not only impolitic but absolutely impossible to enforce their complete introduction by the 1st of October. Indeed many are of the opinion that as the law stands it does not require introduction to be completed before the time for the next annual reports from the districts which will be about March 1st. It is certainly clear that there is no method provided for ascertaining or punishing delinquency [illegible] respect before that time. At any rate [illegible] hearing from friends of education in different parts of the state and taking advice of such of the County Superintendents as were near at hand for instance, of Mr Eliot, of your county, I became satisfied that the good of the schools absolutely required that they should be allowed until March 1st to finish the work of introduction though they should begin it on or before October 1st, as provided in the law. I so represented the matter to the Board, and such a regulation was adopted accordingly. The decision had nothing to do with the adoption of the "Pacific Coast Readers" and the same action would have been necessary and would have been taken if there had been no such readers. Further I have been assured by the publishers that the Pacific Coast Readers if adopted can be furnished to the scholars just as soon as the other books that have been selected and that there is no more need of extending the time for introduction on their account than on account of the other books.

Your correspondent is also quite positive that the cost of the Pacific Coast Readers will greatly exceed that of other series now in use. He thinks that the First Reader will cost 50 cents, the Second 75 and the Third $1.50 and so on. So he has no hope that the Pacific coast will be able to compete with Eastern publishers in school-book making for many years to come. He would have taken a more cheerful view of the situation if he had known more about the subject upon which he was writing.

Now the facts are that the publishers of the Pacific Coast Readers have fixed the retail prices for them as follows: First—25 cents (instead of 50) second—50 cents (instead of 75) third—75 cents (instead of $1 25) fourth—$1 and fifth—$1 25. The price of the whole series is thus only $3 75, while that of Willson's Family series now largely in use and which your correspondent wishes to continue is $6 00. The price of the Pacific Coast series is permanently fixed too by positive agreement of the publishers unless there should be a general rise in such school books throughout the United States. So it seems that notwithstanding the Calchas-like foreboding of your correspondent the Pacific coast can and does compete with the East successfully in this business.

As to the sectional character of the new Readers your correspondent is again singularly at fault. There is nothing sectional about them in any bad or unworthy sense. They will neglect no section of the country and no section of its literature. It is the purpose of the editors and publishers as I understand from the character of the books that have been issued as well as from communications that I have had with them to make the series thoroughly national including something of the representative literature of the whole country. Of course it is the intention to insert specimens of the literature of this coast and particularly of our own State. This to be a feature of the books. They could not be otherwise than sectional without it. Who can claim that a series of Readers is national that absolutely ignores the whole country west of the Rocky Mountains, the most promising section of the entire land? The truth is that the Pacific Coast series is less obnoxious to the charge of sectionalism than any other that I have examined. There are series of Readers published in the East and used here that devote no more attention to this coast than they do to the Fiji Islands. Their prevailing idea is that the whole of the United States is East of the Rocky Mountains and that Boston or some other city is the whole of the East.

Judging from your correspondent's animadversions on this subject I should suppose him to be a late comer from the East who has not yet got over the notion quite common as I find, among certain people in the Atlantic States that the Pacific coast is inhabited by a kind of mongrel population of semi-barbarians. He seems to think it a piece of insufferable impudence that any man on this coast, particularly any man in Oregon should presume to write or publish a school book. He has [illegible] apparently, [illegible] a sort of divinely ordained monopoly of the school book business with which [illegible] to interfere. [illegible] the [illegible] is a piece of [illegible] Eastern snobbishness, that would be amusing if it were not absurd.

Now [illegible] true that I as well as the other members of the Board of Education [illegible] the adoption of the Pacific Coast Series [illegible] of your correspondent and of [illegible] think [illegible] presumption I take the liberty to believe [illegible] say that [illegible] [illegible] am bold enough to think that we have [illegible] here in Oregon [illegible] the State may well be proud [illegible] [illegible] farthest corner of the world where the English language is spoken. The sneer of [illegible] times I cannot put on that [illegible]

It [illegible] [illegible] extraordinary [illegible] [illegible] adoption.

[illegible] SYLVESTER C. SIMPSON.

OREGON ANNUAL CONFERENCE

First Day.

The Oregon Annual Conference met at 9 o'clock A M, September 3d in the M E Church at Olympia W T to hold its twenty first session. Bishop [illegible] in the Chair.

[illegible] opened the opening religious services [illegible] reading the [illegible] chapter of [illegible] the singing of the [illegible] hymn commencing

Draw near O Son of God draw near [illegible]

[illegible] The Bishop then [illegible] the Lord's Supper. He was assisted by the Presiding Elders and Dr Bowersox. The services were deeply [illegible]

The Bishop then spoke as follows:

Brethren—I feel it my duty to acknowledge with you the goodness of God in permitting me to meet you on this occasion. You seem [illegible] as strangers but brethren beloved. Although I have not had a personal acquaintance with you, yet I have followed your footsteps as you came to this coast, and [illegible] marked with interest your trials and successes. [illegible] I have entered according to [illegible] with you in your pioneer work, and have [illegible] the fathers—some of whom have fallen [illegible] as they have gone from place to place preaching the Gospel of the Son of God.

[illegible] my solemn and responsible duty to stand here as I do this day. I have not received this field as uninteresting or unimportant but have received it as a field of struggle and hard labor. I have come to you with no idea that this is a field of ease and am not surprised to learn that many of you have had small supports—a number not able to be here for that delicate reason. But I come to you the more gladly because yours is a field of trial. I recognized the heroism, the self denial and noteworthy enterprise necessary to [illegible] in such a field, and as I see it will take hold and help in the great work.

You are laying the foundations. You do well to toil on. I hope it may be God's pleasure to give me some part in your sacrifices. If not now at some time—if not in degree yet in kind. I am one of a grand itinerary band commissioned to go forth in the name of the Lord to save the world.

I hope it is not necessary for me to say in closing to unite with you in planning for another year's work that I will do nothing, but what is for the good of each of you and the proportion as your field of labor is a hard one. I must betake myself to prayer. Will you meet me every day at the [illegible] our Heavenly Father to take charge of my thinking, my hand my judgment. Without prayer I would not dare to be here. Let us keep our hearts in the spirit of prayer.

Of all things to be desired on this occasion the first is a pure, exalted and religious spirit. May we [illegible] in social joys but if it leads to levity and dissipation it will harm us. May be cheerful. It with it we are conscious of the great responsibility upon us and pray that Jesus will be with us in all our labors. If we can only say, The Lord of Hosts is with us, we shall come to the close with joy. Let us keep close to Jesus.

At the close of the Bishop's interesting remarks the former Secretary H K Hines called the roll of Conference and forty members responded to their names.

Conference proceeded to ballot for Secretary. Forty two votes were cast. H K Hines having received a majority of all the votes cast was declared elected on the first balloting.

A mammoth tooth was recently found in the vicinity of Soda Springs, Clackamas county. It was found in a creek bed and was in a good state of preservation, being almost entirely petrified. It was six inches in length on the surface, by three in width. The formation of the tooth shows that it belonged to a carnivorous animal, and one much larger than any known now to exist on this continent. Considerable interest is taken in examining it. It may be seen in the show-case at the Postoffice at Oregon City.

The great air ship is now well advanced toward completion, and a large force of men is engaged finishing the various apparatus. All the parts will be completed and got together in a few days when the balloon will be publicly exhibited on the Capitol grounds commencing next Saturday and continue day and evening until the ascension. It was at first intended the balloon should start without any preliminary public exhibition, but in consequence of the earnest desire manifested by the public and press, the Graphic Company have decided to make the exhibition.

The following is a description of the balloon. The nine great sections are each 175 feet wide and 15 feet high; when inflated 116 feet in diameter; when inflated 110 feet circumference, when inflated, 335 feet; extreme length from crown of balloon to keel of boat, 160 feet; height of car, 15 feet; length of life-boat, 24 feet; cloth required 4,310 yards; in sewing, ten miles of rope was used; gas required to fill balloon 400,000 feet; weight of entire apparatus 7,000 pounds; cost nearly $15,000."

The construction of the new gigantic Boston water works, by which Sudbury and Farm [illegible] in Framingham are to be conveyed through a conduit 16 miles long and costing $4,000,000 into Chestnut Hill reservoir, is to be begun at once. The line of conduit has been decided upon and will require three [illegible] two of 1,000 feet each between Sher[illegible] swamp and valley on the edge of Natick, and under Badger Hill, near South Natick and a third of 1,600 feet under the hill in Newton Centre just west of the Chestnut Hill reservoir. The tunneling will generally be through solid rock and the contract requires [illegible] to be completed within three years. The conduit will be of brick arch shaped, and equivalent to a circular section 8 feet in diameter. The new source of supply is calculated to give Boston 40,000,000 gallons daily, the present supply from Lake Cochituate being 17,000,000.

J A Parker, a citizen of Olympia, was stricken with a slight shock of paralysis several days ago and has since been confined to his bed.

The United States paid $7,000,000 for Sitka, and yet it becomes necessary to ship hay from Oregon to keep cattle alive after they are imported there for soldiers' beef.

Last Sunday the Congregational Church in Seattle was formally dedicated and this week the members have invited Rev. Norman McLeod to become their pastor. He has accepted the call.

Two distinguished professors who have been for some time past occupied exploring the northwestern Territories are called "bone sharps" by the avidity with which they collected fossil remains.

A herd of 5,000 head of beef cattle was started from Rocky Ford in southern Colorado, a few days ago for Kansas City. It will probably take 60 days to drive them to that point.

An Idaho Justice has been unable to decide whether "twisting the tails off of five pups at the first joint" has injured the pups or benefited them, though he has had the case under advisement for a week.

A very rich gold mine has recently been discovered near Golden City, Colorado. It is bar of black sand nine miles long, and one mile wide and yields $200 to the ton. There are millions on millions of tons of the sand.

Tommy Smithson, a New York street Arab, aged 11 years, reached Denver last week in a freight car, where he had lain concealed among a lot of agricultural implements while the train had made a seven days' journey. He had provided himself with food beforehand.

From the Olympia Courier of September 3d: A resident of Montesano, Mr Bailey, came up from that place last night with his left arm badly injured. Yesterday he was leaning on his rifle, which, by some means, was discharged the ball tearing through the arm below the elbow and fracturing both bones. The wound was dressed by Dr Waughop, and the patient is now doing well.

Quite a village has recently sprung up at the mining camp in Hall's Valley, Colorado. Two men, named Boice and Hall, started a whisky mill and gambling house which being extensively patronized by the miners produced a great deal of lawlessness. So serious, at length, became the state of affairs, that the company decided to engage no more men on their tramway, mines or other works, who did not at the same time engage to abstain from patronizing the said establishment. At the same time the sale of whisky was stopped wherever they had authority, and a number of the most incorrigible hands discharged. This, no doubt, enraged Messrs. Boice & Hall, who had for several days been indulging in threats of serious import, involving the murder of several men against whom they had an especial spite, as it was well known that they had, on previous instances, kept their word under much the same conditions, it was confidently believed that they would do so on this occasion, and several men expressed their intention of leaving the Gulch, being in fear of their lives. On August 12th things came to a crisis. The whisky party appeared at the settlement armed with revolvers, threatened several men and pointed their revolvers at others, occasionally varying the programme by sending a shot among the houses. In view of the critical position and danger, a party was rapidly armed with rifles, and getting within a short distance of the desperadoes, rushed in and disarmed them. They first drew their revolvers, but being covered by half a dozen rifles, dropped them when ordered. They were then securely locked up in an empty store-room, not, however, before they had solemnly declared their intention of shooting those who had now disarmed them, the first chance they got. Accordingly, supper was given them and they [illegible] locked up during the night, however, it is supposed that a party of vigilantes, the existence of some such organization having been for some time surmised broke into the store-room and carried off the men, who were found the next morning hanging within a mile of the saw-mills.

Visitors from the upper country to Victoria, report large crops and fat cattle in abundance with no outlet for the products.

The Superintendent of Indian Affairs has gone to Kootenay for the purpose of investigating the recent Indian difficulty there.

The steamship California will leave Victoria for the new diggings at Cassia, on the 6th September, carrying passengers at $20 and $30.

The rains have stopped the harvest in Saanich District. The yield will be very large should no damage result from the damp.

The sixth annual exhibition of the Cowichan, Salt Spring and Chemainus Agricultural and Horticultural Society will be held at Maple Bay on the 8th October.

A deserter from the United States steamer Shubrick somewhat startled the citizens of Esquimalt the other day by running through the streets in a state of nudity. A sort of new departure.

Under date of August 16th an Ottawa contemporary says: "The Duke of Manchester and suite left last night by train for Toronto, en route for British Columbia." His Grace will be the guest of the Lieut Governor.

Admiral Cochrane was expected to arrive at Victoria by the North Pacific on Thursday of this week. After the new Admiral's arrival and before the departure of Vice-Admiral Hillyar a sham naval fight will be engaged in by the ships.

Recent reports from the Dease Lake mines give glowing accounts of the richness of the gold bearing placers of that region. The metal is said to be worth $18 an ounce and the mines pay from $12 to $16 a day to the man, on an average and as high as $100 have been secured in one day by means of rockers. There will doubtless be a great rush to these mines next spring.

It appears from official returns that during last year 154,000 acres of land were disposed of in the Province of Manitoba. During the year forty two surveyors with four hundred men and one hundred transports, were employed. It is confidently anticipated that more than treble the quantity of land will be taken up in that young Province during the next year. This year the quantity will be very much greater than last.

THE SCHOOL BOOK QUESTION.

It will be seen that the question of the introduction of new school books as provided by the Legislature is exciting considerable interest. We are glad to see this. The subject is one of very great importance. Not only will the introduction of the new books cost a considerable amount of money, but what is of still greater moment it will have a lasting effect upon the educational interests of the State. This consideration is in our estimation more important than all others involved in the question.

We have never been fully convinced of advantages of enforced uniformity of text books in the public schools throughout the State. It has seemed to us that when the idea of uniformity is pushed too far as the securing of a uniform set of books in each respective district there is a liability that real intellectual training may be impeded rather than promoted. District uniformity, that is uniformity in any given school, is a necessity because a diversity of books makes proper classification impossible. But when every teacher and every pupil in the State is required to use exactly the same books, is there not danger that learning by rote, the mere memorizing process, will take the place of real discipline of the mental powers. The notion that the school is simply a place for stuffing the mind with the facts found in the books has long since been exploded. The school is now regarded among the progressive, Western nations, mainly as a place for the systematic training of the powers of the mind for independent action in after life. There is reason to doubt whether the uniformity law as we have it now is not antagonistic to this principle for the same reason that the conformity laws of Charles the First were inimical to intelligent Christian thought.

But the law has been passed and is to be enforced. The thing for the Board of Education to do is not to put their judgment before that of the Legislature and refuse to enforce the law, but to see that it is executed. We commend them, therefore, for their determination to do their duty. If the law is not a good one the Legislature alone is responsible for its evil.

We have not examined all of the books recommended, and cannot speak very intelligently in regard to some of them, but from a cursory examination, and some experience in teaching, we have been inclined to think the selections generally good. This is a question upon which no uniformity of views can ever be attained, no matter how much uniformity of action may be compelled by law. Every man will have his own views, and no two are likely to agree upon every point. We do not think much of Guyot's Geography and we have no patience with the short hand, hieroglyphical method of teaching grammar, as invented by Mr Clark. But these books have been adopted, we believe, and we suppose those who had the matter under consideration tried to discharge their trust conscientiously. They may be right.

As to the Pacific coast readers, we see no very good reason why they should not be adopted if they are not inferior to others. They are a home production, and if we are compelled to buy uniform books we might as well have a home book as a foreign production, provided the former is as good as the latter. This series of readers have not been completed yet. So far as we have seen them, we like them. They are not wholly without defect, but they are not without points of superiority. Let the matter be fully discussed. That is the way to arrive at the truth—or to that which is nearest to the truth.

THE MAN AND HIS ACCUSERS.

The Bulletin, Mr. Senator Hipple's acknowledged organ, says—and repeats it two or three times by rote—that his life has been as honorable as that of the best of his accusers. We don't know whether Col Thompson of Butler, Pennsylvania, the law preceptor of Mr Hipple, his first law partner, and his present friend is the best of his accusers or the worst of them. That gentleman says he was guilty of seduction and embezzlement, and he also gives the date of the divorce of Hipple's first wife, as 1867. The public records show that he was married here in February 1862. So there must have been five years of bigamy to add to his other faults and follies, to call them by no harsher names." Whether Col Thompson has such a record of infamy as this in his history, we have no personal knowledge, but he is not so spoken of. Neither do we know that the other main accuser, the deserted wife of his youth, who has toiled through all these weary years to support the children of the man who dishonored and betrayed her and then cast her off to find her way through the pitiless world as best she could, has lived the life of crime that he has. He has not, nor has the best of his defenders intimated that she was such a person as he. He knows that she has had enough to drive her to a life of sin, if any one ever had. Her life, so far as it is known, has been, with the exception of the one stain cast upon it by her seducer John Hipple, that of a pure and virtuous woman, a loving and faithful wife and devoted mother. Let the public judge between her and her destroyer, and if it determine that his life has been as honorable as hers appears to have been we shall admit sadly but frankly that one of Hipple's accusers was as bad as himself. But even then we must be permitted to ask the question: How came she to be so bad? Who led her away from the path of innocence and virtue? Whose victim was she? Upon whom did she lavish the wealth of her love, the flower of her youth, the fullness of her confiding [illegible] and [illegible] plucked under foot and find herself spurned and all her life and hopes blighted forever? For shame John Hipple! [illegible] think of these things, and since you make no further effort to repair the wrong that is beyond all reparation [illegible] and defame the woman you have already deprived of all that woman lives for. There remains no crime of higher grade [illegible] of which [illegible] and [illegible] pursue no farther this woman [illegible] in Truckee [illegible] to support your children while you, however disgraced, are a United States Senator still.

CHINESE POLICEMEN.

The Bulletin is attempting to create the impression that the Mayor of this city has appointed Chinamen as policemen. Such is not the case, however, and any such charge is an unmitigated falsehood in every particular.

The Mayor has not appointed Chinamen or any new policemen, nor did he attempt any such thing, nor is it true that he had any such power. The Bulletin says that Sam Poey testified that the Mayor told him to select a number of Chinamen to act as special policemen, and that the Mayor had given him four written cards, one for each Chinaman.

We are informed by the defendant's counsel that Sam Poey did not make any such statement, nor show any card of the Mayor or any card on which he had written. Nor was any card shown or referred to that had the word policeman on it.

But that Sam Poey did say that on the night of the late fire, he met the Mayor and asked him how to spell the word "watchman." That the Mayor told him how to spell the word, and that he went away and wrote, or had the word watchman or private watchman written on his card and on three other cards of Chinese merchants, and that these were the cards presented in court.

Then Sam Poey asked the Mayor about selecting some men to watch his store, and the stores of three other firms whose names he mentioned. The Mayor did not assume to give, or deny power to select watchmen to watch their own property, but told Sam Poey that Americans were selecting men and paying them as private watchmen to protect their property from supposed incendiaries.

We suppose a Chinaman even knew he had power to select whom he pleased to watch his property, and that is all the Chinamen have done. But even the exercise of that right appeared distasteful to policeman Mercer, who had these Chinamen arrested on the pretence that they were carrying concealed weapons. We are told that the chief of the police force did not countenance the proceedings, and we think the City Attorney and Court did right in dismissing the cases. This much seems due to all parties concerned.

The Bulletin says that the Republican press of this State, without exception, believes that the Republican party should endorse Senator Hipple's crimes. That is the same as to say that any one of the papers—all except the Bulletin so far as we have seen—that have not expressed themselves in favor of the endorsement of these crimes by the party have by this omission lost their character as Republican journals. This is doubtless the Bulletin's idea of Republicanism. It is not ours. When the 13th of October comes we shall ascertain whether it is the idea of the voters of the State if the Convention chooses to adopt the Bulletin's white-washing resolution.

It seems probable that the demand of Gov Grover upon the War Department for such of the captive Modocs as are not now under sentence of death will be acceded to. A Washington dispatch of Aug 31st says: The Secretary of War will return on Monday and will then decide to turn over those Modocs not sentenced to be hanged to the jurisdiction of the Governor of Oregon, who will order their trial for various crimes heretofore committed in that State. If this be true the Modoc business will very shortly be wound up. Some of the settlers in Southern Oregon have been waiting for those Modocs for some time, it is said.

OREGON CITY LETTER.

OREGON CITY, Sept. 4, 1873.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Things are moving here about in the usual tenor. Nothing very rare or exciting has come under our observation for some days. The City Seminary opened last week, August 2[illegible]th. One hundred and thirty pupils put in an appearance the first day, and that number is now considerably increased. The school was never more promising than at present, and large results are expected from this year's work.

Mr A. Noltner, editor of the Enterprise, left for the East on last Monday morning to attend the I. O. O. F. Convention, to be held this month at Baltimore. C. F. Beattie, Esq., ex-Deputy Sheriff, will grace the editorial sanctum of the Enterprise until Mr Noltner's return.

Prof Rotan is holding a Musical Convention at present, which from present indications promises to be quite a success.

The Oregon City Woolen Mills are now running day and night, doing good work.

The flouring mills have again resumed operation after being overhauled.

Messrs C. W. Pope & Co's new brick is rising rapidly and will soon be under roof.

Miss Emma Miller, eldest daughter of Capt. J. D. Miller, left on the last steamer for Boston to pursue the study of music. She expects to be gone at least one year.

We learn that a boat club is being organized in this place by some of the professional gentlemen of town, to be known as "The Hygeia Boat Club." The object of the organization is to develop fun and muscle.

Politics—very quiet.

THE STARK STREET SEWER.

PORTLAND, Sept. 4, 1873.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

I desire space in your paper to call attention to an article in the Bulletin of this day which reflects upon me unjustly. It is charged that I have "dilly-dallied" with the performance of my contract for the Stark street sewer and kept the street in an inconvenient condition for an unnecessarily long period of time. This charge is wholly unjust. I have used my best exertions to get the material brought here from Buena Vista, but have been unable to do so in time to finish the work as early as I supposed I could. The navigation of the river closed before the manufacturers of the pipe had got the full amount made, and it would have been impossible to haul it to the nearest railway station, as the Bulletin thinks I was bound to do, without a loss of at least fifty per cent by breakage. I hope this will be sufficient to show that whatever blame is due to any one in connection with this matter is not chargeable upon me.

It may not be amiss to add that while it may be true that other persons have suffered inconvenience by the streets being dug up in front of their places, the editor of the Bulletin has received especial favor in that regard. At his request and solely for his benefit I skipped a section of the work intervening between the ground in front of his dwelling and the place where I was at work, and first completed that portion in front of his house at considerable extra cost to myself.

Very respectfully, J. E. [illegible]

Thomas McCann, being drunk, put his hand into a lion's cage at Mansfield, Ohio, to shake hands with the occupant. The lion cordially grasped the proffered member and drew Thomas up close to the bars to kiss him, and when by repeated blows he had been induced to desist from his purpose Thomas's wrist was bitten completely through, and he will lose his hand.

CITY.

PASSENGERS [illegible] SAN FRAN[illegible] [illegible] the steamer John L Stephens will sail for San Francisco. She will carry the following passengers: Julius Levy, Small Church, Fred Deneur, Miss M. E. Stewart, E S Gottschalk, Mrs E Webb, Mrs Bacon, Benj Stark, [illegible] Al Crosston, G P Ferrell, Mrs Eliot, two children and servant, Miss Kenney, Mrs Humphrey, H Wolf, H Holt, Wilson, Mrs M C Hurd, Mr Garfunkle, Miss Kate Demet, Mrs McMahon, T Backenfeld and wife, Chas Fishel, Miss Carrie Brown, Madame Anna Bishop, Miss Phelps, G A Artois, Frank Demmer, Mrs J Church, A Wilkie, Frank Gitler, Miss Minnie F Ailing, M Johnson, W N Stark, F S Kenney, A N Gilbert, Mrs C F Robbins, Miss J Kenney, Miss Ida Levy, Miss Lizzie Belt, B Brenner, L Sonders, Mr Currier, Mrs P Gortankle and two children, Mrs O Demet, J hn Demet, Mrs Margan, Kirk F, Kohn, C Park and wife, S Bacon, M Shultz, and 7 in the steerage

WATER C[illegible] VIEW.—Mr F F Coleman is engaged at present in painting a view of the burned district of the city. The view was sketched a few days after the conflagration. It was taken from a point near the corner of Yamhill and Front streets looking south and west. The painting represents nearly the entire area of ground traversed by the flames in their destructive march. The unburned portion of the city beyond, the neighboring wooded hills and the river are all shown with vivid distinctness in the view. By all odds, it is the best and most accurate view of the burned district which we have yet seen. This painting will be when mounted 18x14. In a few days the artist will have concluded the finishing touches

ANOTHER LODGE.—If results are to be taken as an indication, the Order of the Knights of Pythias in this city are in an exceedingly prosperous condition. Not more than six months ago the first Lodge of that Order was instituted in the State with about 20 charter members. Since then the Order has attained a membership of nearly 50, and is in a healthy, flourishing state. One of the most unmistakable indications of prosperity is the fact that it has been determined to institute another Lodge in Portland. This will be done in a few weeks by the Grand Chancellor of the State, Major M P Berry. The new Lodge will be called Mystic Lodge No 2. Twenty charter members have already been secured, and a charter will soon be granted

NUMBER ONE.—At the regular monthly meeting of this fire company, last evening the new Constitution and by laws were adopted, and an election was held for Foreman, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr John Finnen, resulting in the choice of Mr W. J Algeo by an almost unanimous vote. This company has recently had its building thoroughly renovated and refitted, and it now compares favorably with any engine house in the city. The new Amoskeag steamer ordered for this company some three months since is expected to arrive about the 1st of October, when the "boys" intend to celebrate the event in good style

SALEM FIRE BELL.—A splendid bell arrived on the last steamer for the Fire Department of Salem. This bell was ordered some time ago by the municipal authorities of Salem, and was manufactured in San Francisco. The bell weighs 2,900 pounds alone. With the frame, wheel and rotary yoke it weighs 3,100 pounds. It was cast at the brass foundry of W T Garrett, San Francisco. This bell is possessed of a loud, clear tone well adapted to the purposes intended. It is a handsome, finished piece of work, and the Salem boys have reason to feel proud of this valuable acquisition to the Department.

SEALED PROPOSALS.—Proposals will be received at Col Bachelder's office until the 17th, for the furnishing of supplies to the military post at Walla Walla. On Wednesday, the 17th of September the bids will be opened for supplying the following articles: 1,700,000 pounds of hay, 1,450,000 pounds of oats, 450,000 pounds of straw, 1,600 cords of hard wood, or 3,000 cords of soft wood. The contract for the transportation of the above articles from Wallula to Walla Walla will be let on Wednesday, 10th inst, at the office of Col Bachelder

MACHINERY BROKEN.—While the steamer Mary Bell was towing up the schooner Hera from Astoria, one of the cylinder heads was blown out and some other damage done. Being unable to proceed further with the vessel, the tug Astoria was sent for, which brought the Hera to this port. Meantime the Mary Bell is undergoing the needed repairs at the Iron Works. She will be able to report for service in a few days, and will proceed down the river

NOT YET AWARDED.—All the sealed proposals which have been received at the office of Col Bacheldor, Chief Quartermaster, and also at Camp Harney, for the furnishing of supplies at that military post have been opened. No contracts have been awarded as yet. As the bids have all been received the different sums for which the bidders propose to furnish the necessary supplies will soon be known and the contract awarded in a few days.

MORE IMMIGRANTS.—Valuable acquisitions are being made to our population by almost every steamer which arrives at this port. By the John L. Stephens there arrived a large number of immigrants, who came hither to better their conditions, with a view of permanent residence. They are principally farmers and mechanics. Cordially we welcome them and wish them prosperity in their pursuits of industry

RELEASED ON BAIL.—James R Farrish, who was committed to jail some weeks ago to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of forgery, in default of bonds, has been released, bail having been furnished. After being released Farrish was removed to the insane asylum, to receive required medical attention as a private patient. He will probably remain there until the convening of the Circuit Court in October

PREMIUM ON ORGANS.—The firm of G. A. Steel & Co, of this city, sole agents for Mason & Hamlin's organs, for Oregon and Washington Territory, on yesterday received a dispatch announcing that "Mason & Hamlin's organs have obtained the first medal at Vienna, being the highest award given to musical instruments of any country." No other American organ obtained one

TO THE PUBLIC

We are now getting [illegible] a new and fresh stock of fine furniture, which [illegible] superior in quality and newer in design than the one destroyed by the fire, and which we will offer for sale on advantageous terms. Meanwhile we are well prepared to supply the present demand from our temporary store, corner of Fifth and Taylor streets [illegible] Custom House. Respectfully,

HURGREN & SHINDLER

Willamette Engine Company's house is receiving the finishing touches from the painter's hands and in a few days will present a handsome appearance. The members will hardly know it

A hunting party consisting of Mr George J Ainsworth, recently a graduate of the University of California, and Messrs Landerman, Strong and White, all of this city, left Portland a few days ago, for a two week's hunt about Tacoma.

Our jovial conundrum propounder, who sticks type, poked his proboscis into our sanctum last evening and propounded: "What makes Portland girls cling so tenaciously to their fellows, these lovely evenings?" Of course we gave it up. "Why," said he, "because they're court plasters." We saw the point.

The ebb and flow of the tide which now visibly effects the stage of water in the Willamette, requires the boat-house at the foot of Oak street to be pushed out some distance in the stream to prevent being partially stranded. It is securely kept in its place by means of two long logs tied at each end of the floating tenement, and lodged against the shore

The female emigrants, who recently arrived from Denmark, Norway and Sweden have found employment in this city as domestic servants, with a few exceptions. Although these girls do not, as a general thing understand English, yet they are taken as servants with alacrity, as they show a strong desire to learn and are faithful and industrious.

AMUSEMENTS

The farewell concert given last evening at Masonic Hall to Madame Bishop and Company was a grand affair. A large refined audience was present who were delighted at the rendering of one of the most attractive programmes which has been presented since the advent of Madame Bishop in this city. This is the last opportunity which our public had of listening to this famous singer. In a few weeks she will leave the Pacific coast in all human probability forever

The Rosedale Dramatic Troupe under the management of Mr Robert Fulford will not visit Eastern Oregon as was originally intended, and so announced. As will be observed the company will open at that well known place of amusement on next Saturday evening. "P[illegible] or The Torment" will be offered for the first time in this city by the troupe. Rev Father Goens, at Oregon City, will be visited by a few of the reverend gentleman's former parishioners and friends of Salem next Sunday. Among the number will be Messrs J D Strong, P J Loosen and E Atkinson, who will add to the solemnities of High Mass by rendering "Bordese's celebrated two-part Mass for male voices." Mr Strong will preside at the organ. From our knowledge of the ability of these gentlemen we can promise our Oregon City friends a musical treat

SENATOR FOOTE ON JEFFERSON DAVIS

At the close of a long letter chiefly relating to J Meigs and the late S S Foote which he published in the Washington Chronicle recently, Ex-Senator Foote, of Mississippi, adds the following remarks in regard to Mr Davis' recent speech at the meeting of the Southern Historical Society

The fine expression used in Mr Meigs' eloquent tribute to the shameless front of faction brought to my view at once the language of a certain kind of faction the other day at the Montgomery White Sulphur Springs of Virginia, where he again attempted most unmistakably to revive the excitements connected with the late unhappy war, charged Gens Lee and Joe Johnston with having been cheated by the President and General of the United States into a deceitful peace, asserted that had the subsequent conduct of the Federal Government been anticipated nothing would have been more easy than for the Confederates to have won their independence in arms, praised the ladies of the South for not having yet submitted to reconstruction, absurdly denounced a renewal of the struggle of arms for the principles contended for four years unsuccessfully, and did all in his power to rekindle the feelings of sectional unkindness which good citizens everywhere over the land were hoping would be soon extinguished forever. This is the [illegible] of faction with a vengeance, and will I fear bring more detriment upon the long suffering South than fifty such men as Mr Davis would be able to compensate in a century. I trust that the Union loving men of the Republic will find that Mr Davis speaks only for himself and under the promptings of his own restless ambition, and not for the high souled and patriotic men of the South by whom he is now exceedingly well known

There is one other assertion of Mr Davis which demands a graver and somewhat more pointed response. He says that he has yet to meet with the first Southern lady who has been reconstructed—that is to say, who is reconciled to the Government. Now if he means sweepingly to declare that all the Southern ladies still cherish the spirit of rebellion, he certainly does them most cruel injustice and may in certain cases which I could specify bring upon them a misconstruction on the part of the Government officers in Washington that might result in serious injury to claims now pending before them. If he does not mean this but only intends to make known to the public that he has not happened to fall personally into the company of any Southern female not now breathing forth war, pestilence and famine against the authorities at Washington and to those who submit quietly to power, why, I can see no earthly objection to admitting this to be true, since it may be that Mr Davis has not been quite so select of late in his choice of political counsellors of the gentler sex as he might have been. If he expects now to stir up rebellion again in the South by such pitiful and slavering commendation of Southern women as trickled so deceitfully from his lips three days ago at the Montgomery White Sulphur Springs, I can tell him that he never made a greater blunder in his life. Our women of the South are not yet all Amazons, and all the more refined and intelligent among them do ardently desire peace, and the universal diffusion of kind feeling among all classes of our people from the wave resounding shore of the boisterous Atlantic to the sweet quiet margin of the far off Pacific

CONFESSION IN THE ENGLISH CHURCH

The following report of the committee of the whole house on this subject was laid on the table of the upper house of convocation of the province of Canterbury by Archbishop Tait on the 23d of July

In the matter of confession the Church of England holds fast those principles which are set forth in Holy Scriptures, which were professed by the primitive church and which were reaffirmed at the English reformation. The Church of England in the 25th Article affirms that penance is not to be counted for a sacrament of the Gospel, and as judged by her formularies knows no such words as "sacramental confession." Grounding her doctrine on Holy Scripture she distinctly declares the full and entire forgiveness of sins through the blood of Jesus Christ to those who bewail their own sinfulness, confess themselves to Almighty God with full purpose of amendment of life and turn with true faith unto him. It is the desire of the church that by this way and means all her children should find peace. In this spirit the forms of confession and absolution are set forth in her public services. Yet, for the relief of troubled consciences she has made special provision in two exceptional cases. 1. In the case of those who cannot quiet their own consciences previous to receiving the holy communion but require further comfort or counsel, the minister is directed to say, "Let him come to me, or to some other discreet and learned minister of God's word, and open his grief," that by the ministry of God's holy word he may receive the benefit of absolution, together with ghostly counsel and advice. Nevertheless it is to be noted that for such a case no form of absolution has been prescribed in the books of Common Prayer, and further, that the Rubric in the first prayer book of 1549 which sanctions a particular form of absolution has been withdrawn from all subsequent editions of said book. 2. In the order for the visitation of the sick it is directed that the sick man be moved to make a special confession of his sins if he feels his conscience troubled with any weighty matter, but in such case absolution is only to be given when the sick man shall humbly and heartily desire it. The special provision, however, does not authorize the ministers of the church to require from any who may repair to them to open their grief in a particular or detailed examination of all their sins, or to require private confession as a condition previous to receiving the holy communion, or to enjoin, or even encourage any practice of habitual confession to a priest, or to teach that such practice of habitual confession or the being subject to what has been termed the direction of a priest, is a condition of attaining to the highest spiritual life.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr J S Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medical qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medical utility having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings and cures them by its alterative healing and [illegible] [illegible] other known remedy

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHOEA, etc

This preparation is the result of Dr Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U S Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office 406 Kearney street, San Francisco

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful yet harmless febrifuge and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies of those diseases are entirely avoided.

PLAYING CROQUET

[From the Danbury News]

Croquet is not [illegible] for the development of muscle, but merely for the enjoyment of recreation. When a man puts the preponderance of his strength in the blow he fails to progress in the game and not only that he loses so much of the enjoyment and merely expends strength that may be required to take him off the premises. An accurate eye for measuring distances is about all the capital required in a safe and nourishing game of croquet. Considering what an excellent citizen he is in all respects we are led to regret that Mr. Hennessy did not possess these facts previous to last Monday evening. On that occasion he played his first game. There was a nice party of them on Mr Warford's lawn and several elderly ladies, members of the Khughbluy Mission Society were seated on the stoop, having had a very enjoyable tea. Mr Hennessy waited patiently for his turn at the game at the same time swinging his right arm and slapping his chest to warm up his muscle. When his turn did come he determined he would surprise the congregation. And he did. He looked at the players patronizingly and at the elderly ladies affectionately then he raised the mallet and carefully measured the distance, and took in all the bearings between him and the ball. Then he swung it around his head once or twice and the next instant it cut through the air like a flash of lightning and descending square and accurately to the aim lifted that ball into the air and drove it full against the shin of the amiable President of the Khughbluy Mission, who immediately rolled off the stoop and went kicking and screaming into a Michigan rose bush. The awful concussion of the blow broke the head short off from the handle of the mallet and the distressing article contributed some new and startling phases to the disaster. After making several unsuccessful lunges at the players which nimbleness alone saved them it skipped across Mr Warford's nose, taking off some $2 worth of skin and flying upward came down with unexpected force upon the crown of the Vice President of the Khughbluys who was making herself hoarse in behalf of her unfortunate superior and brought her jaws together with such force as to nearly deprive her of one third of her tongue. The unfortunate Mr Hennessy appeared to be the only one to retain his presence of mind. He buttoned the mallet handle under his coat and threw his hat into the street and then watching his opportunity dashed in and caught one of the President's struggling legs and pulled her out of the rose bush and on to the walk. Then he put three of the balls in his pockets slunk his watch on the pear tree and went home smiling in the most imbecile manner indescribable.

The question as to what course can be adopted to secure our home money market against the recurrence of periods of stringency is one which is now attracting considerable attention on the part of business men and as on other subjects, we find that opinions are as various almost as individuals. We have recently met persons generally looked upon as having financial ability who strongly advocate the repeal of all our laws on the subject of [illegible], they contending that the restrictions placed on the hiring of money by our statutes instead of accomplishing the purpose of their enactment, have the opposite effect, and by keeping capital out of the country keep rates of interest up instead of keeping them down. But such persons fail to look at the questions of interest and usury in all their aspects and bearings on commercial affairs. They fail to tell us why in those States where no usury law exists these seasons of money scarcity are as generally and as [illegible] felt as in communities where the matter is regulated by law. They do not take into account that one of the great causes of many of the cases of bankruptcy in the United States and failures in business everywhere has been found right in the matter of exorbitant prices paid for the use of money. But they say "Usury laws do not prevent this because they cannot be enforced." Neither is any law in our whole civil code enforced in all cases yet no one calls for the repeal of the law against larceny because it is not enforced against some who steal. None will deny that the effect of a law against usury is to place a check against one phase of extravagance which has engulfed many a man in irretrievable indebtedness and final insolvency.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The aggregate of receipts at this port during the week so far has been very large, and is being daily increased. The demand is brisk and competition among exporters who have chartered vessels, in port or to arrive has brought prices up to a point at which many producers are willing to sell. We hear of some transactions in the interior on the basis of $1 72½ cental delivered here in sacks, while holders are reported as keeping back for $1 [illegible] should that be freely offered some would hold back for $1 80. The Liverpool price has steadily advanced and at San Francisco rates are higher than at any time last year

FLOUR—The mills in some parts of our State [illegible] are now [illegible] on full time grinding the new Wheat crop, and under the hardening tendency of prices, receipts have increased. Some shipments are noted both for San Francisco and ports to the north. Our market is firm at $6 50 [illegible] bbl for extra of standard brands outside and country brands $5, superfine $4@4 25. The local trade is active

OATS—We find that buyers here are paying less attention to this cereal than would naturally be expected at this season. It is thought that the market is shaky and the demand is likely to be dull until receipts of the new crop shall have been sufficient to clearly establish prices. Our market is quotable at 45 cents per bushel. This means for fair lots of white, black being worth 3@5 cents less

BARLEY—Reports from the interior of the State confirm previous accounts of a large yield and as the crop is being saved in good condition the surplus will be much larger than ever before. The present condition of the market is encouraging to holders, as shipments both from California and Oregon will probably be largely increased during the next year over those of the past. We quote our market at $1 40 per cental

FEED—A tendency to more firmness is noted induced by the advance in wheat. We are furnished quotations for chopped middlings etc at $22@ per ton shorts, $22@21 and bran $18@20 including sacks in all cases

HAY—No considerable activity is noticed in the market though lots arriving are freely taken at $12@14 per ton for baled timothy and $10@11 for loose. The supply during the week has been limited.

POTATOES—An abundant supply of excellent varieties is in our market and sale is dull for all but the best which we quote at 40 cents per bushel

APPLES—The orchards adjacent to the city are supplying the home demand and some shipments are being made. We quote fair to choice at 50@60c per box

BACON—We quote choice lots of shoulders firm at 8@9c [illegible] sides, 10@12c and hams 14c. The demand is quite fair and the fall trade in this staple is likely to be quite active

LARD—With a good demand we note firm rates for choice lots at our last quotations

BUTTER—The receipts of the past few days have been light and best quality is in fair demand at 30@ 28c per pound. Common lots range at 15@18c.

EGGS—The supply is full and prices weak at 20c per dozen for fresh receipts

CHICKENS—We quote spring chickens $2 25@2 [illegible] per doz grown, in choice lots $4

BEEF CATTLE—Quotable at 4@4½c [illegible] on foot

SHEEP—A fair demand at $2@ per head for good mutton sheep

DRESSED HOGS—The trade is dull butchers and packers paying 6@7c [illegible]

HIDES—Market active at 6@7 cents [illegible] for green [illegible] cents for green salted and [illegible] cents for dry in sound lots

WOOL—By reference to a dispatch seen elsewhere in this column the Eastern wool market is improving. Ours has been quiet for some days but manufacturers are freely taking all choice lots, ruling at [illegible] cents per pound

As this medicine is proving an inestimable boon to those afflicted with that disease, no person should neglect the present opportunity of providing themselves with this valuable antidote.

Price ONE DOLLAR per bottle

Portland Oregon, Aug 22 1873

MR SAMUEL CORWIN—Sir: In justice to yourself and for the benefit of those who may be afflicted with the small pox I am induced to give publicity to the following facts. About the 20th of July 1873 I became very unwell having severe pain in my head back and limbs which continued to increase in severity for three or four days. A very high fever set in and I began to break out on my face neck and body with what proved to be small pox. I procured of Dr Fredtuff of the Central Drug store a bottle of your small pox remedy. Notwithstanding the severity of the attack I administered the medicine myself in accordance with accompanying directions, but in about a dozen doses. In three days all pain and fever disappeared. My recovery was extremely rapid notwithstanding frequent exposures by moving about from place to place while in a high fever which is generally considered fatal in that disease, and it is my firm conviction that under the ordinary treatment for that disease I would not be living to day. I took of the medicine [illegible] two and a half bottles, more perhaps than was necessary not wishing to discontinue until a thorough cure was effected
